The Aboriginal Heritage Act 1988 protects any Aboriginal site or object on the land Details of any such site or object may be sought from the "traditional owners" as defined in that Act.

Land and Business (Sale and Conveyancing) Act 1994 section 13A
Land and Business (Sale and Conveyancing) Regulations 1995 regulation 15A

Before you buy a home there are a number of things that you should investigate and consider. Though it may not be obvious at the time, there could be matters that may affect your enjoyment of the property, the safety of people on the property or the value of the property.

The following questions may help you to identify if a property is appropriate to purchase. In many cases the questions relate to a variety of laws and standards. These laws and standards change over time, so it is important to seek the most up to date information.

Various government agencies can provide up to date and relevant information on many of these questions. To find out more the Office of Consumer and Business Affairs recommends that you check the website: www.ocba.sa.gov.au/Realestate/

Consider having a professional building inspection done before proceeding with a purchase. A building inspection will help you answer some of the questions below.

Electricity Infrastructure - Building Restrictions and Statutory Easements

It is an offence under section 86 of the Electricity Act 1996 to erect a building or structure within a prescribed distance of aerial or underground powerlines. In some, but not all, cases approval may be obtained from the Technical Regulator. Generally, however, land owners must not build, or alter a building or structure, with the result that any part of the resulting building or structure is within the minimum clearance distance required from certain types of powerlines. These building limitations are set out in the Electricity (General) Regulations 2012 regulations 81 and 82. Purchasers intending to redevelop the property to be purchased should therefore be aware that the restrictions under the Electricity Act and Regulations may affect how, or if, they are able to redevelop the property.

In addition, if a building or structure is erected in proximity to a powerline of an electricity entity in contravention of the Electricity Act, the entity may seek a court order:

a) requiring the person to take specified action to remove or modify the building or structure within a specified period;

b) for compensation from the person for loss or damage suffered in consequence of the contravention; and/or

c) for costs reasonably incurred by the entity in relocating the powerline or carrying out other work.

Contact the Office of the Technical Regulator in DMITRE for further details.

Statutory easements

Separate from the above restrictions, South Australia's electricity supply and transmission businesses have statutory easements over land where part of the electricity distribution or transmission system was on, above or under the land as at particular dates specified by legislation.

This notice does not necessarily imply that any statutory or other easement exists. However, where in existence, statutory easements provide these businesses (identified in the relevant legislation) with the right of entry, at any reasonable time, to operate, repair, examine, replace, modify or maintain their equipment, to bring any vehicles or equipment on the land for these purposes, and to install, operate and carry out work on any telecommunications cables or equipment that may be incorporated in, or attached to, their equipment (Clause 2 of Schedule 1 of the Electricity Corporations (Restructuring and Disposal) Act 1999; section 48A of the Electricity Act 1996).

A statutory easement is not generally registered on the title for the land.
To avoid risking injury and damage, it is recommended that the location of underground services be confirmed by telephoning Dial-Before-You-Dig on 1100.

For further clarification on these matters, please contact SA Power Networks' Real Estate Branch on telephone 8404 5897 or 8404 5894.

(a) Commercial or industrial activity at the land; or	NO

Note—

The questions (a) and (b) relate to information that the council for the area in which the land is situated may hold. If the council answers "YES" to the question, it will provide a description of the nature of each development approved in respect of the land. The purchaser may then obtain further details from the council (on payment of any fee fixed by the council). However, it is expected that the ability to supply further details will vary considerably between councils.

A "YES" answer to (a) of the question may indicate that a potentially contaminating activity has taken place at the land (see sections 103C and 103H of the Environment Protection Act 1993) and that assessments or remediation of the land may be required at some future time.

It should be noted that—

It should be noted that—

(a) the approval of development by a council does not necessarily mean that the development has taken place;

(b) the council will not necessarily be able to provide a complete history of all such development that has taken place at the land.

(13) RESIDENTIAL DEVELOPMENT UP TO & INCLUDING 400 m^2 OF FLOOR AREA (PERMITTED or CONSENT)

(Reference: South Western Drainage Scheme Review; Kinhill Nov.1998)

Stormwater management is required with any new development (excluding additions or alterations to an existing dwelling where the floor area is not increased by more than 50%) to limit the rate of stormwater discharge from the site. The following measures shall be incorporated into the stormwater design for a residential building development up to and including 400 square metres in floor area:-

- Roof Stormwater Run-off– A minimum of 60% of roof stormwater run-off shall be directed to a stormwater tank of not less than 2000 litres capacity for On-site Stormwater Detention (OSD). The restricted outflow (nominal 19mm outlet) from the tank may be discharged to either Council infrastructure, or to an area for On-site Stormwater Retention (OSR) within the property (landscape area, soakage trench, etc.) The overflow from the tank shall be directed to landscape area within the property, or to an area for On-site Stormwater Retention (OSR). The remaining 40% (maximum) of roof stormwater run-off may be discharged to either Council infrastructure, or to an area for On-site Stormwater Retention (OSR) within the property (landscape area, soakage trench, etc.) Refer to Council Engineering Detail SD-600 Sheets 34 & 35 (Draft).
- Pavement Stormwater Run-off – A maximum of 50% of pavement (driveway, paths, & patio) stormwater run-off may be controlled and discharged to Council infrastructure via a pipe system. The remaining 50% (minimum) of pavement stormwater shall be directed to landscape area within the property, or to an area for On-site Stormwater Retention (OSR). Refer to Council Engineering Detail SD-600 Sheets 34 & 35 (Draft).

- Stormwater that is retained on-site (OSR) by utilizing landscaped areas within the property, soakage trenches, or additional tank storage in excess of the required 2000 litres, shall be contained within the site. At no stage shall stormwater resulting from a storm up to and including a 20 year ARI, flow or discharge onto land of adjoining owners, lie against any building or create insanitary conditions.
- Roof stormwater that is directed to an on-site retention area in lieu of discharge to Council infrastructure shall be designed and certified by a "Chartered Professional Engineer" in the field of stormwater management.
- Detention tank capacity shall be in addition to any proposed rainwater storage tanks for domestic supply or On-site Stormwater Retention.

(14) The stormwater drainage system shall be designed in accordance with the "Building Codes of Australia Performance Provisions".

Surface water, resulting from a storm having an average recurrence interval of 20 Years, and which is collected or concentrated by a building or site work, must be disposed of in a way that avoids the likelihood of damage or nuisance to any other property.

- Surface water, resulting from a storm having an average recurrence interval of 100 years must not enter the building
- A drainage system for the disposal of surface water must

a) Convey surface water to an appropriate outfall
b) Avoid the entry of water into a building; and
c) Avoid water damaging the building.

(15) A free and uninterrupted flow of stormwater, resulting from major storm activity up to and including 1:100 years, shall be provided around the building(s) to alleviate the possibility of stormwater inundation.

(16) Stormwater shall be disposed of in such a manner that it does not flow or discharge onto land of adjoining owners, lie against any building or create insanitary conditions.

(17) Temporary debris and sediment control measures shall be installed to prevent debris and sediment from entering Council's drainage system during all construction stages. Pollution prevention measures shall be in accordance with the "Environmental Protection Authority's Stormwater Pollution Prevention Codes of Practice":

- For the Community
- For Local, State, and Federal Government
- For the Building and Construction Industry

(18) Stormwater from driveways located on the high side of a road, shall be collected at the front boundary of the property and discharged via the household stormwater system to the road water table. (22) The driveway shall be constructed and sealed with bound material appropriate to the grade, providing both structural integrity and traction in both wet and dry conditions. The use of unbound materials is deemed unsuitable due to the steep grades.

(23) All earthworks associated with the development shall be stabilized in accordance with standard engineering design and practices against erosion and failure. No earthworks must encroach across neighbouring property boundaries.

NOTES

(1) All work undertaken within the road verge between the property boundary and the road edge requires approval from Council. An "Application for construction or modifications on Council Property" shall be lodged with Council for approval for the following activities:

(If applicable) any trusses falling outside of the scope of the certified program shall be separately certified pursuant to Regulation 88.

BCA-P2.1

Notes

The certified drawings/ documents will be issued by the Council with the notification of development approval. A full building specification and a building schedule, standard engineering details, standard wall and roof frame construction details, standard bracing construction details, a complete set of tie down details, wet area details and bushfire construction details are retained on both Katnich Dodd and Council files.

This consent is issued on the understanding that the proprietary type materials and products as specified either on the architectural plans or specification are to be selected and installed in accordance with the manufacturers recommendations and relevant standards

The following energy efficiency construction requirements shall be complied with

- RBM and bulk insulation shall comply with BCA Part 3.12 and 3.12.1.1
- The glazing system shall have the performance characteristics (U-Value/SHGC) required by BCA Table 3.12.2.1 for single clear glass.
- The hot water supply system shall comply with Section 6A of AS/NZS 3500.4.2 or Clause 3.38 of AS/NZS 3500.5.

The owner of the site is advised that a retaining wall will be required adjacent the boundary to retain any cut or fill.

Unless agreement has been obtained from the adjoining property owner, all portions of the retaining wall including footings and drainage provisions, shall be located within the allotment boundaries.

The retaining wall less than 1000 mm high on the site boundary is pursuant to Schedule 3 deemed not to be development however under the provisions of Section 60 and Regulation 75 the associated excavation/ filling is deemed to be building work which affects the stability of the adjoining land and requires notice to be served on the adjoining owner.

Document Set ID: 5628246
Version: 1, Version Date: 12/05/2024

Sleepers used in the construction of the retaining walls shall be:

- If timber; designed in accordance with AS 1720, of the correct durability class for timber in contact with the ground and resistant to termite attack, and
- If concrete, designed and detailed in accordance with AS 3600 Concrete Structure Code.

The person proposing to undertake building work on land (or who is in charge of such work) is warned of their obligation to give the Council notice at stages prescribed in Regulation 74.

A person must not occupy a Class 1a building under the Building Code (or an addition to a Class 1a building) that has been completed in accordance with the development authorisation insofar as it relates to the performance of building work unless it complies with the requirements prescribed in Regulation 83A.
Regulation 83AB requires a Statement of Compliance for Class 1a buildings to be provided upon completion to the relevant authority by the licensed building work contractor who has carried out the relevant work, or who was in charge of carrying out the relevant work, to which the statement relates (or if there is no such licensed building work contractor- a registered building work supervisor or private certifier) all in accordance with the attached pro-forma, which must also be signed by the owner of the relevant land, or by someone acting on his or her behalf.

The location, design and capacity of the stormwater discharge at the property alignment should be approved by council prior to site-works commencing. The drainage system should be completed by the finish of construction of the building. (Clause 5.5.3 of AS 2870)
The method of stormwater disposal must not result in the entry of water into any building or on to the land of any adjoining owner without their consent.

AS3660.1- 'Termite Management - New Building Work', sets out methods for minimising the risk to new buildings from damage to their structural members by subterranean termites by deterring concealed entry by termites from the soil to the building. A termite barrier system constructed in accordance with this standard can not prevent termite attack, as barriers may be bridged or breached. Where termites bridge barriers the evidence may be detected during inspections which need to be carried out at intervals not exceeding 12 months to reduce the risk of termite damage. A durable notice shall be permanently fixed to the building in a prominent location such as a meter box or the like indicating the method of protection; and the date of installation of the system; and where a chemical barrier is used, its life expectancy as listed on the National Registration Authority label; and the need to maintain and inspect the system on a regular basis.

The roof trusses shall be erected, installed and braced in accordance with AS4440, the manufacturers specifications and good trade practice. The truss design relies on bottom chord restraint at 600 mm centres; the builder is advised that standard 10 mm plasterboard does not provide this restraint.
All timbers exposed to the weather or in contact with the ground shall be durability class 1 or 2 (AS1720) or shall be adequately treated with preservative (AS1604). All nails used for framing anchor and straps shall be corrosion protected . Nails used in joints that are continuously damp or exposed to the weather shall be hot-dip galvanised, stainless steel or monel metal.
The assessment of the timber framing has been based on the understanding that the timber to be used for all structural elements has a minimum joint strength group of J4 or JD4.

The footings have not been designed to take into account the effect of trees located within a distance less than their zone of influence from the building whether they are on or outside of the allotment. If clarification is required, refer to the footing construction report or seek advice from the engineer.
The footings have only been checked for compliance with the minimum allowable requirements prescribed in AS2870. The owner is advised to refer to the footing construction report or seek advice from the engineer in this matter.

The owners attention should be drawn to Appendix B of AS 2870 'Performance Requirements and Foundation Maintenance'
Particular care should be exercised to ensure that the plumbing and perimeter paving is installed in accordance with the requirements of AS 2870 and engineers details.
The articulation or control joints in the masonry walls shall be installed in accordance with the Site Investigation and Footing Construction Report.
Wet area details including floor grades, set-downs and impervious surfaces shall comply with Minister's Specification SA F1.7; including provision of drainage flanges.

All glazing shall be glazed in accordance with AS1288- 1994, including safety glass for full height windows, glazed doors, side panels and windows located over or adjacent to a bath/shower.

This report does not imply compliance with the Electricity Act, 1996 as amended or the regulations there-under. It is the responsibility of the owner and the person erecting the building to ensure compliance with same.

Electricity and Telecommunications Infrastructure - Building Restrictions and Statutory Easements (including those related to gas, water and sewage)

Building restrictions

It is an offence under section 86 of the Electricity Act 1996 to erect a building or structure within a prescribed distance of aerial or underground powerlines. In some, but not all, cases approval may be obtained from the Technical Regulator. Generally, however, land owners must not build, or alter a building or structure, with the result that any part of the resulting building or structure is within the minimum clearance distance required from certain types of powerlines. These building limitations are set out in the Electricity (General) Regulations 2012 regulations 81 and 82. Purchasers intending to redevelop the property to be purchased should therefore be aware that the restrictions under the Electricity Act and Regulations may affect how, or if, they are able to redevelop the property.

In addition, if a building or structure is erected in proximity to a powerline of an electricity entity in contravention of the Electricity Act, the entity may seek a court order:
a) requiring the person to take specified action to remove or modify the building or structure within a specified period;
b) for compensation from the person for loss or damage suffered in consequence of the contravention; and/or
c) for costs reasonably incurred by the entity in relocating the powerline or carrying out other work.

Contact the Office of the Technical Regulator in DEM on 8226 5500 for further details.

Statutory easements

Statutory easements for purposes such as (and without limitation) electricity, telecommunications, gas, water and sewage, may also exist, but may not be registered or defined on the title for the land.

Separate from the above building restrictions, South Australia's electricity supply and transmission businesses have statutory easements over land where part of the electricity distribution or transmission system was on, above or under the land as at particular dates specified by legislation.

This notice does not necessarily imply that any statutory or other easement exists.

However, where in existence, statutory easements may provide these organisations and businesses (identified in the relevant legislation) with the right of entry, at any reasonable time, to operate, repair, examine, replace, modify or maintain their equipment, to bring any vehicles or equipment on the land for these purposes, and to install, operate and carry out work on any pipelines, electricity or telecommunications cables or equipment that may be incorporated in, or attached to, their equipment (For example, see Clause 2 of Schedule 1 of the Electricity Corporations (Restructuring and Disposal) Act 1999; section 48A of the Electricity Act 1996).

For further clarification on these matters, please contact the relevant organisations or businesses, such as SA Power Networks' Easements Branch on telephone 8404 5897 or 8404 5894.

If you intend to excavate, develop or subdivide land, it is suggested that you first lodge a 'Dial Before you Dig' enquiry. Dial Before You Dig is a free referral service that provides information on the location of underground infrastructure. Using the Dial Before you Dig service (https://1100.com.au) may mitigate the risk of injury or expense resulting from inadvertent interference with, damage to, or requirement to relocate infrastructure.
